

Write your own Forest Stewardship Plan

Your forest is managed by you and driven by your objectives. By identifying your primary goals and concerns, and objectively formulating an action plan based on best available science and biological surveys of your land, we will help you develop a Forest Stewardship Plan that is nationally accredited and certifiable.

IF YOU OWN FIVE ACRES OR MORE OF FOREST LAND...THIS WORKSHOP IS FOR YOU!

Discover more about...

FOREST ECOLOGY

Your forest consists of water, soils, plants, animals, trees, and much more. Learn more about these and how they interact.

FIRE & INSECT HAZARD MANAGEMENT

Fires and insect outbreaks are a reality in western forests. Learn more about influencing disturbance events and making your forest more resilient to their impacts.

WILDLIFE HABITAT ENHANCEMENT

Wildlife of all types need food, water, cover, and space. Discover how you can enhance wildlife habitat.

TREES - the OVERSTORY

Learn about the trees on your property, their conditions, and what they need to thrive and regenerate.

UNDERSTORY & RANGE MANAGEMENT

Wildflowers, shrubs, seedlings, and weeds: forests have them all. Learn how to identify your plants, enhance what you like, and control what you don't.

FOREST HEALTH ASSESSMENT & MAINTENANCE

What is a healthy forest? Use an inventory to take a critical look at the components of your forest. Assess its age, health risks, growth potential, and the options you have to improve its current condition.

"When I first learned about the workshop, it sounded good, but secretly I felt I really wouldn't learn a great deal. It would probably just confirm what I already knew...I figured I knew how to handle my forest land. Boy, was I in for a surprise!"
